Chicago, Oct. 28.—John R. Walsh, whose conviction of misbehavior in the Chicago National bank was recently affirmed by the United States appellate court, may remain at liberty under bonds pending an attempt to appeal his case to the supreme court of the United States.

NUMEROUS CALLS ON POOR COMMISSIONER

Follow Upon the Advent of Cold Wave—Mr. Anderson Sent Evansville Youth to Hillsboro Today.

Poor Commissioner Ann Anderson was called to Evansville this morning to attend to the case of a fifteen-year-old youth by the name of Johnson who had no visible means of support, had been sleeping in a barn, and was about to be declared a vagrant. The boy is not over bright, mentally, and when his father was given railroad fare by the county to Hillsboro, Ill., last spring, was left to shift for himself. The unfortunate thought that a cousin at Hillsboro might take him in and was provided with the means of transportation to that point.

With the advent of cold weather, the poor commissioner is receiving the usual number of calls for fuel and food at his office, 312 North Academy street. His office hours are from 8 to 9 a. m. and from 1 to 2 p. m., and he may be reached there by new phone 452 white.

The number of inmates at the county farm is also rapidly increasing.

C. & M. & St. Paul Ry. May Send a Chicago to the Coast Through Janesville.

Should the rather vaguely expressed plans of the C. & M. and St. Paul Ry. officials be carried out, one of the through trains from Chicago to the Pacific coast will pass through Janesville in the near future. This move is being contemplated by the company and the special train which passed through here this morning carrying all the important officials of the line, was for the purpose of testing its feasibility.

Included in the party were the president and first vice-president of the road, general manager, master car builder and superintendent L. H. Clausen of the C. & M. division. The train was made up of seven new steel frame, Pullman type of coaches, and left Chicago yesterday afternoon, going by way of Savannah and McGregor to Madison, and from thence to Chicago via Janesville, passing through here at 8:15 this morning. The trip was made solely for the purpose of testing the track and to ascertain if the proposed route would be practicable.

ROBINSON'S OLD BREWERY RENTED BY QUIGLEY CO.

Typographical Error Which Ran Through Several Hundred Copies of Gazette Last Evening, Corrected.

The Benjamin Quigley Co. of Rockford has rented the old Robinson brewery, not the Hemmens brewery, as was incorrectly stated in several hundred copies of the Gazette last evening before the mistake was discovered and corrected. Mr. Quigley himself here superintending the changes that will be made and begins active work Monday. The Hemmens brewery will continue to manufacture its goods as hitherto and it is trusted the mistake will be excused.

ROBERT GROSHUNG MADE GOOD HIS ESCAPE FROM POLICE CAPT. DAVENPORT

Young Man Charged With Theft of Automobile Accessories Is Again at Large.

Chief of Police Shaughnessy of Madison this morning called Chief Appleby by telephone and expressed his appreciation of the capture of Robert Groshung by Officer John Brown in this city yesterday. It would be asking too much, he feared, to request the local officers to try to find the man again as he escaped from Captain Davenport shortly after the policeman and his prisoner arrived in the Capital City last evening. Groshung was arrested on the charge of breaking into the Otto shop at Madison, Saturday night, and carrying away tires, chains, spark plugs and other automobile accessories valued at $100.

KINDERGARTEN CHILDREN ARE NOW MAKING SHOES

Activity Prompted by a Tour of the Marzuff Factory With the Misses Buckmaster.

Tiny shoes and boxes for the same are now being manufactured by the observant children of the Adams school kindergarten who accompanied their instructor, Miss Mary Buckmaster, and her assistant, Miss Arnes Buckmaster, on a tour of the Marzuff factory one day this week. Forty little people participated in the visit and Mr. Marzuff not only took particular pains to show them how the footwear was created but also provided them with plenty of raw material for their own experimental work and sweet-treats, just before their departure.

Pictures in Advertising.

In one of the recent weekly meetings of the Kansas City Ad Club the manager of an catalog mail order house spoke about newspapers, their value and circulation, the methods necessary to make ads pull and the drawing power of pictures in ads. He said among other things:

"The advertiser must use his space to his own advantage. The publisher offers him blank space. The advertiser must fill it up properly."

"We see two men in the same line get exactly the same service from the same publisher, after their wares at about the same price and one prospers while the other fails. The use of the blank space accounts for it. In our house we have men work half a week building up a page for our circular and then after it has cost $10 or $15 to set it up, admit it is not what they want and they go to work to lay out another advertisement. It pays us to throw away their labor and take advantage of their second attempt."

"We advertised a tent and ran a picture of it in our catalog. It did not go well. We had another picture made, showing men in and about the tent. The result was ten times as many orders for the tent as before. I do not pretend to account for it except to say that it teaches that the advertiser must use his blank page right. The camera has made the advertising of today possible. Pictures count."

"The day of the 'card' has gone. You must deal fairly with the publisher and help his medium sell your goods. Tell everything about your goods in the advertisement. Leave no room for questions. In our circulars we offer coffee. Those advertisements which have a picture of the can sell more coffee than do those without the picture. That supports my contention that the advertiser owes it to the publisher to help out by making the advertisement attractive."

THE MERCHANT TAILOR

The Advantage of Two Stores

With the addition of the Madison store it becomes apparent that there are many advantages in such a combination. It gives a larger range for selection, and the greater buying power is of benefit in many ways. A customer will often see a garment in one store, say in a navy blue, and will express a desire to have the same thing in a green, and the chances are that the other store has it in the shade she wishes. An exchange is made between the two stores, the customer secures just the garment wanted and the duplicate in style is not sold in the same town, so that the exclusive idea can be carried out to the certain satisfaction of the customer.

SOLDIERS' GUARD PRINCEITO'S BODY

SOLDIERS SURROUND HOTEL IN WHICH COFFIN CONTAINING DEAD STATESMAN LIES.

EMPEROR DEEPLY AFFECTED

Assassin Will Be Tried at Dairen—Nine Accomplishes Are Held—Warship Will Convey Funeral Party Back to Japan.

Tokyo, Oct. 28.—The body of Prince Ito, the murdered statesman of Japan, lies in a hotel at Dairen, in a coffin covered by a simple white pall. Soldiers guard the hotel and none are allowed except the prince's personal staff. The Japanese warship Iwato will bring the body from Dairen. It will be accompanied by a full suite representing the entire nation.

Throughout the day telegrams poured into Tokyo from every country of the world, and the officials of the foreign office are busily engaged in answering them. Before the official announcement of Prince Ito's death difficulty was encountered, which was of a purely technical nature, in avoiding acknowledgment of the statesman's actual demise. This was obviated, later, when the death was officially announced, an ordinance being simultaneously issued, and antedated, bestowing unusual honors, one of these being advancement from junior to the first grade in court rank.

Emperor Deeply Affected.
Those closest to the throne say that the emperor is deeply affected by the assassination of the prince. He has asked for every detail and apparently is unable to understand why the murder was committed, in view of the fact that information of all the facts, so far as they have been learned here, but the emperor ordered that there must be no change in the policy toward Korea.

The emperor of Korea has cabled
his sympathy to the emperor of Japan,
as well as to Princess Ito, at Osaka.
Accomplices Are Arrested.
Nine alleged accomplices have been arrested and it is believed that the investigation will show that the plot was hatched at Seoul. The Japanese authorities are determined to unearth the source, because the assassination of Prince Ito is believed to have been planned by the same persons who planned the murder of Durham White Stevens, the former diplomatic adviser to the Korean government, at San Francisco, in 1903.

The leading statesmen of Japan who have been interviewed on the subject assert that the death of Prince Ito will not affect the avowed policies at home and abroad.

CUBANS FIGHT BLOODLESS DUEL.

Cabinet Officials Resign and Settle Differences with Pistols.

Havana, Oct. 28.—The dispute between Secretary of State Justo Garcia Velez and Secretary of Sanitation Mathias Duque, whose resignations from the cabinet have been accepted by President Gomez, culminated in a duel with pistols.

The men exchanged four shots, but neither was injured.

Paris, Oct. 28.—Henri Bernstein, the dramatist, and Francis Chevrin, a dramatic critic, fought a duel with pistols at Prince park. Neither was injured. M. Chevrin fired and missed, while Bernstein did not discharge his weapon. When he was asked later why he had not fired, the dramatist replied: "I forgot to."

The duel grew out of the publication of an article written by Bernstein in which he attacked the critic.

TREASURY DEFICIT IS HEAVY.

New Tariff Law Does Not Accomplish Desired Effect.

Washington, Oct. 28.—The new tariff law is not reducing the treasury deficit, as predicted by its authors. It is shown by a statement that the deficit for the fiscal year up to October 23 was more than $22,000,000.
For the same period last year the deficit was only $7,000,000 greater, or $30,997,000. The new tariff has produced $23,376,000 more than the Dingley law in the same months last year, and had the government kept within its expenditures of the former year the result would have been a deficit of only $16,000,000. But the report shows that the expenses were increased more than $16,000,000 above that of the same period last year, most of it in the war and navy departments.

Will Appeal Sugar Case.

Washington, Oct. 28.—"The government will at once institute an appeal from this decision," announced Attorney General Wickham in reference to the action of Judge Holt in the circuit court at New York, sustaining the plea of the statute of limitations interposed by the defendants, (Huttle, Kliesel and T. B. Hatfield, to the indictment against them jointly with the American Sugar Refining Company. The case involves violations of the conspiracy laws.

SATURDAY'S GAMES ARE MOST IMPORTANT

Most Important Game East or West Is Between Chicago and Minnesota.

Saturday's football schedule appears to center the world on the game between Chicago and their old rivals, the Minnesota Gophers. Both teams are primed to the hilt for the contest and upon this game really depends the championship of the west.
Michigan not being in the "Big Eight"
this season, can not be classed as a contender.

The game is to be played at Minneapolis and Stagg has sent out his best stories of the Chicago team's weakness, while it is known that Minnesota is equipped considerably. Wisconsin plays Northwestern at Evanston, and Michigan meets Syracuse at Ann Arbor. After its narrow escape last Saturday at the hands of Marquette, there is a possibility that the eastern team will defeat the Ann Arbor players.

Yale meets Amherst, Harvard takes on West Point, Princeton has Annar-olis, Pennsylvania plays with the Carle, Indiana and Cornell and Williams clash at Ithaca. Other eastern games

HUNT FOR BODIES OF SHIPWRECKED SAILORS

Rescuers in Tugs and Other Craft
Seek for Victims of Healia Disaster.

St. John, N. B., Oct. 28.—In the hope of being able to pick up some of the crew of the wrecked Donaldson line steamer Healia, a number of tugs, vessels and other craft put out from this port for Seal Cove, Grand Manan island, where the Healia ran upon a ledge and where more than a score of persons are believed to have perished.

The efforts of the volunteer rescuers are centered on the location of one little life-boat, which, overcrowded with men, was the last to leave the Healia. When last observed, the occupants of the frail craft were struggling in the heavy sea. The wind at the time of the accident was blowing a gale off shore, and although it had diminished considerably, it still blew from the land and it was the general opinion that the life-boat had been carried out to sea.

One of the vessels to leave port for the scene of the wreck was the steamer Aurora, which makes regular trips between St. John and Seal Cove, and part, Mr. The steamer expected to pick up the survivors of the wreck, who are now at Grand Manan, and bring them to Eastport.

The condition of the six men rescued by the life-boat was pitiable.
Left on the wrecked vessel, with the last boat gone, and with no chance of rescue in view, the men's nerves gave way under the strain and when taken off by the life-boat they were in a condition of exhaustion. Mate Stewart broke down and cried when taken into the life-boat and it was a long time before any information could be obtained from him.

WOMAN ASCENDS IN AEROPLANE.

Delighted with Sensation—Reaches Height of 50 Feet.

College Park, Md., Oct. 28.—With her skirts flapping about her ankles, to keep them from fluttering in the breeze, Mrs. Van Daman, wife of Capt. Ralph C. Van Daman, Twenty-first Infantry, United States army, occupied the passenger's seat beside Wilbur Wright when he ascended in the government aeroplane here. For four minutes she experienced the sensation of soaring in the air, sometimes as high as 50 feet above the ground.
This was the first time a woman had made an ascension in a heavier-than-air machine in the United States.

"Oh!" exclaimed Mrs. Van Daman, when she returned to the ground.
"Now I know what makes the birds sing."

Tobacco and Sneezes Fatal.

Malone, N. Y., Oct. 28.—William Lafleur, 37 years old, of Franklin county, after remarking that he was feeling fine, took a chew of tobacco and sneezed. The tobacco quid became lodged in his throat and he died within a few moments, having choked to death.

Windy Wills.

As a contrast to the short will of 12
H. Harriman, one might mention the will of the late Lord Grimthorpe, in the framing of which no fewer than 11,070 words were used; and that of Mr. Edward Bush, a retired Gloucester engineer, who died last autumn worth £114,812, and disposed of it in a will containing 24,000 words.—Strand.

If it is true that "all men are liars," a truthful ad writer deserves more than ordinary praise.

Reason Why Copy.

No greater work can man do than this: Advertise truthfully. Such man will make his work but the vocation of today and a stepping-stone to a noble life. "The truth and nothing but the truth," develops a better character in the man.

To be in the man on which the business man he advertises hangs. If the ad man is the least bit "off color" about the exact truth, the huge has a flaw. You may patch and oil it with a little truth now and then, but untruthfulness is the battering ram which, if left unheeded, will crumble to atoms the mightiest establishment.

"The Reason Why" copy writers are the greatest offenders. Just pick up any daily paper, read the ads, and you will be surprised at the great amount of "Reason Why" advertisements. "Reason Why" advertisements mean those who are continually making statements why this cut in price, and why this special sale, "Manufacturers' close out," "salesmen's samples," "a clear up from the manufacturers," etc., etc., they are old reasons, but used time after time when there is no truth in the same.

One ad man had an inspiration (?) at the time of the auction sale of the Arnold goods. Two days after the auction he advertised wash goods at a great reduction for the reason that the goods were purchased at the auction. The truth of the matter was that there was not a piece of the auction goods in the store at the time of the sale.

Another firm had overhauled its flowers in the millinery department. The firm wanted a big sale; the ad writer had an idea. A letter was written to a friend in New York and he (overseas) back, "New York stores are selling a great many flowers for the summer hats." This firm reproduced the telegram for proof that flowers were the proper thing in millinery.

Why did this firm go to such an effort to produce a reason? The flowers were sold for such low prices that the people would have come in just as fast if the store had stated the truth. But this firm had printed ads "off color" so many times that they now have to do all manner of things to pull trade.

A clothing house advertised that the reason of the big cut in price is that they do not carry goods over from season to season. On inspection dozens of suits two and three years out of style were found in the store.

If there must be a reason, use a truthful reason. "When in Rome do as the Romans" is not an axiom that an advertiser should follow. If you are working for an employer who is the least bit shady about the truth, look for another job.

The world today demands the "truthful" ad writer. Get the habit and you will be a success.

SCIENCE AND INVENTION

OWE THEIR LIVES TO SCIENCE

Inventions of the Century Responsible for Saving Lives of Those on the Republic.

The 500 or more people who were taken safely from the sinking steamship Republic some weeks ago have good reason to thank wireless telegraphy and the submarine bell signal for their rescue. The incident derives its thrilling character almost entirely from recent scientific inventions.

Probably Hertz, the German university professor, when he first detected, only a few years ago, the waves sent out by an electric discharge, scarcely suspected that in a comparatively short time a wretched and sinking steamer would be using such waves to summon aid from hundreds of miles around.

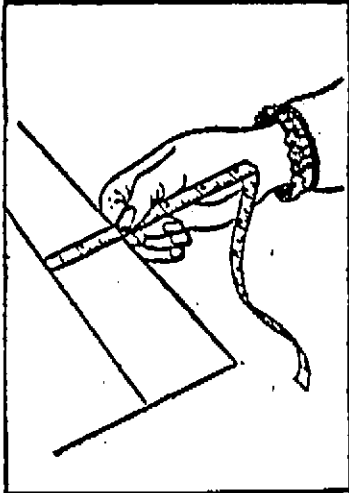

Owing to the striking character of the discovery that has been so successfully applied by Marconi and others, most people know something about it, but with the shipper submarine bell fewer seem to be acquainted, although it is an American invention, and is now widely installed and used. It is simply an application of the principle, understood by all boys who bathe in rivers or ponds, that water is a better conductor of sound than air is. Two people struck together under water by one boy may be heard by another whose ear is also under water, at a distance that would render the sound quite inaudible in air.

In the new signaling device the two stones are replaced by a bell, fixed under water on a ship or near a light-house, and the listening ear by an appropriate device, generally a metallic plate connected with a telephone inside the ship. Bell signals sent in this way may be detected at great distances, and were of no small assistance in locating the sinking Republic.

NEW KIND OF TAPE MEASURE

Indispensable Instrument, One End Formed of Piece of Non-Bondable Material.

Tape measures are so useful and indispensable to the dressmaker in their present form that it would seem as if it were impossible to improve on their construction. Yet this has been very easily accomplished in a tape measure recently patented by a New York man and shown in the illustration below. A short piece of flexible, springy material is combined with the end of the limp tape measure. The end is thus made self-supporting. The value of this having a small portion of the end of the tape measure stiff and unbendable will be apparent; where small measurements are to be made the necessity of holding the end of the tape measure is eliminated. The measuring can also be accomplished much more quickly and with accuracy—something impossible in a limp tape measure where small measurements are made.

End of Tape Measure Non-Bondable.

Trap for Mosquitoes.
The sluggish canal in the suburbs of Calcutta, India, so abounds with vicious mosquitoes that the people suffer continually the year round from bites, notwithstanding they have employed every known means for extermination.

A gentleman connected with the entomological department has therefore been crowned with gratitude because of his invention of a simple and inexpensive trap which is easily managed by the most novice, and which destroys large numbers at the most trifling cost.

It consists of a cheap wooden box, 12 by 9 inches, fitted with a hinged lid having a small opening, over which moves a sliding cover. The box, lined with dark green baize and having a tin floor, is placed in a shady corner of the room, and the mosquitoes on entering the house in the morning include themselves in the box to escape the sunlight. When duly settled the lid is shut, a teaspoon of benzine is injected into the box and nature does the rest.

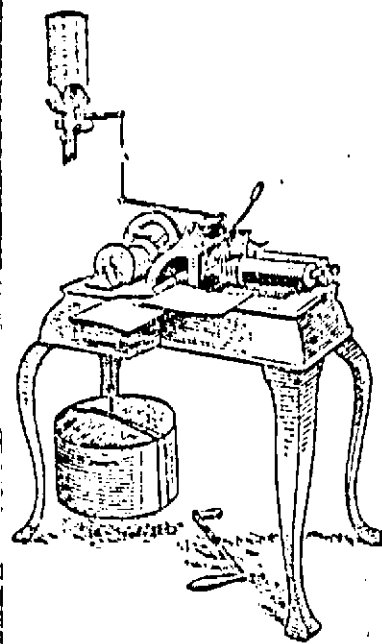

Improves Telephone.
In the telephone receiver having no diaphragm, the poles of a permanent magnet are connected by soft core in a continuous magnetic circuit. The core is surrounded by a coil that connects to the transmitter and a suitable battery. The inductive current from the transmitter affects the entire magnetic circuit, reproducing the voice distinctly, without the disturbances from the diaphragm. Sounds reproduced have filled a large hall.

Greco Large Importer of Oil.
Greece is a large consumer of edible oil. Her population of about 5,000,000 uses annually 20,000 to 25,000 tons of oil, or eight to ten kilos per capita.

MACHINE TO BLOW WHISTLES

Electrical Device Designed to Work by Means of Armature and Regulated by Weight.

This whistle-blowing machine is composed of a standard, a 75-pound weight, three gears, a set of fans, a blowing lever, and the necessary electrical installation to release the weight.

Electrically-Operated Whistle Blower.

says Popular Mechanics. It will operate any whistle in any system, the length of the blast being determined by the speed of the gears, and being regulated by the fans.

The gears are held in check by a release lever, the end of which rests on the studs of an electric-magnet armature. It is so arranged that the movement of the armature away from the magnet when a closed circuit is used, or towards the magnet when an open circuit is used, releases the lever, allowing the gears to start. The center gear, which engages with the end of the blowing lever, makes one blast of the whistle at every revolution.

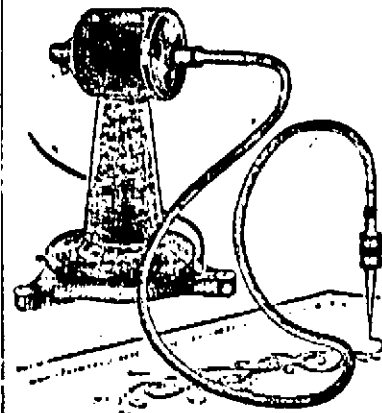

The weight is used in preference to springs because it does not change its tension, and when once adjusted only requires to be occasionally rewound.

CUTS OUT PAPER DESIGNS

Electrical Perforator or Needle Device Designed for Following Wallpaper Friezes and Patterns.

An electric perforator or needle cutting device has been designed for cutting out wallpaper friezes, crowns and panels, and perforating pounce patterns. The needle fits into a tool which is attached to the motor by means of a flexible shaft. The motor can be attached to any electric light socket.

By use of the apparatus the figures in ordinary commercial wallpaper can be made to appear like hand-painted decorations. The needle point has a speed of 5,000 oscillations per minute.

Cuts Out Figures in Paper.

says Popular Mechanics. It runs without vibration and it is as easy to follow a pattern with it as if tracing with a pencil.

"This advertising is a business in which the worker and not the shirker meets with success."

Sound from Electric Lamp.
Experiments in electricity by students of the Texas university engineering department have resulted in the production of articulate sound from a common arc lamp, the feeding wire of which is connected with a telephone.

Dr. A. C. Scott has interested himself in the experiment and says the result is due to the fact that the vibrations in the carbon of the lamp correspond exactly to those of an ordinary telephone receiver. The talking lamp is located in a room some distance from the phone in the engineering building, and students standing directly under it are able to hear conversations over the phone with perfect distinctness.

Noises or conversations in the phone room cannot be heard at that distance when communication with the phone is cut off.

Overcome Electric Welding.
A patent recently granted to Mr. A. F. Hietzel is expected to overcome the difficulty often encountered in electric welding due to the arc jumping at the nearest points of two not quite smooth surfaces, and the exact position of the weld not being easily controlled. Raised portions on both sheets to be welded are placed in contact with each other, and the welding temperature reached only at the points desired, with a result similar to riveting, a saving of electrical energy and elimination of burning of metal resulting.

Long Distance in Europe.
A long distance telephone service with four lines is expected to be opened next year between London, Paris, Madrid, Barcelona and San Sebastian.

THAT'S THE REASON

J.M. BOSTWICK & SONS.

THAT'S THE REASON

The One-Piece Dress Story

The one-piece dresses are meeting with high favor this year. A number of times women have just happened in, did not intend to get a dress, although they had the subject in mind, and thought it would be necessary to engage a dressmaker and have one made at home. They were agreeably surprised on finding here dresses all ready to slip right into, with scarcely any alterations necessary. We have in mind one woman in particular who was going on a trip and really did not have time to have a dress made. She thought she would just look at ready-made dresses, anyway. The first one she tried on was the one she took, and several friends have remarked as to its becomingness, besides she saved a number of dollars by buying it ready-made.

We show a complete line of wool dresses and silk dresses, and can fit small, medium and large women and have styles enough to make choosing easy. The price range is from $10.00 to $38.00. We have a very strong range at from $16 to $25.

This week we are showing a number of pretty models in the window, both wool dresses and silk dresses.

Dress of diagonal serge, taupe shade of gray, piped with black satin, trimmed with jet buttons, latest model long waist, plaited skirt, material a fine silky diagonal serge so much in vogue, priced $16.00.

Dress of navy blue, herringbone stripe serge, buttons straight down the front, black satin collar and cuffs, full plaited flounce, a splendid office or business dress, priced $15.

An Exceptionally Complete Line of Little Tricot Flannel Dresses

In blue, brown, green and black, made with tucked waist, plaited skirt, jet button trimmings, smart designs, priced very moderately at $12.00.

We Are Showing An Elegant Line of Evening Gowns

Made of a very fine quality Crepe de Chine, beautiful New York creations. Made with full shirred skirt, with trains, long plain panel front, trimmed with insertion to match, fine tucked yoke with medallions of same color. Sleeves are the very newest shirred effect. They come in light evening shades and black.

All the new evening shades and black in a line of very desirable Moire dresses that are so good this year.

We make all alterations on these dresses and when a dress leaves the department it fits perfectly in every respect.

The Liberal Reductions We Are Making On Women's and Misses' Suits

are keeping the suit business up to a high standard. We are showing the best in suits this season. Our stock at the present time is so complete that there is hardly a style or color, or size wanting. In coming to THE BIG STORE for suits you have the advantage of the largest assortment in Southern Wisconsin to select from. Other merchants hereabouts would not be warranted in carrying so many, but as THE BIG STORE leads we have to carry the stock in order to maintain our leadership. The reductions we are making ARE GENUINE and women realize it. Pleased customers tell their friends and the result is a lively suit business, AND THAT IS WHAT WE ARE MAKING THE REDUCTIONS FOR.

Military Capes Are in Good Quest This Season

They are such handy garments for women to have. Once you possess one you realize their practicability. These capes are designed to wear over afternoon costumes and for the opera. The popular length is 50 inches. We show them in a beautiful range of colors including dark red, dark green, dark blue, and all the pastel evening shades. They are quite irresistible. Priced $15.00 to $25.00.

Let Us Show You These Incomparable Corsets

The illustration gives one a fair idea of the Gossard Corsets but you can never realize how infinitely superior they are and how perfectly comfortable until you have one on.

Notice the long hip which takes care of flesh at top of thigh and gives the wearer the long, lithe, slender, supple lines which you must have if you wear the Moyenage, Merovingian or other new styles of gowns.

This is model "A" made of special batiste of great textile strength, yet light in weight. Trimmed with applique embroidery in a beautiful design; stitched with dition to being absolutely highest quality of high caring a fine temper. This is and the only quality which moulding the figure to the Corset.

THE GOSSARD CORSETS
"They Lace in Front"

with silk of course; strong hose supporters; best quality of laces, binding and stripping; boned with "Electrobone" which in ad-rust-proof is the best and bon clock-spring steel, carry the best steel used in corsets is considered adequate for beautiful lines of the Gossard

Model "A" comes in 12 and 13 inch front steels. Sizes 18 to 34, price $0.50. The one fact that Gossard Corsets lace in front, that they support the abdomen instead of depressing it, resulting in benefit instead of injury, should induce every careful woman to instantly discard her back-laced corset and adopt the Gossard.

When it is shown that these corsets not only improve the health; are not only comfortable but create beautiful lines and give the wearer a better figure than she could possibly attain in any other corset, it is remarkable that any woman who can afford the price of a good corset should wear any other make.

The Company's representative,

MRS. E. B. DILTZ,

will be with us all this week and would like an opportunity to prove that the Gossard Corset actually does all that is claimed for it, and that health, beauty and grace of figure are attained by those who wear it.

The greatest play of the age, with the greatest cast that has ever appeared in it, will be the attraction at the Myers theatre, Saturday, Oct. 30, matinee and evening, when the Wagner & Kemper company presents Eugene Walter's "Paid in Full" with the brilliant cast direct from the Astor theatre in New York and the third year on Broadway. The public need hardly be told about "Paid in Full," for it is the most celebrated American comedy drama, the biggest popular success, and the best play of this generation, written about and seen by more persons than anything the stage of recent years has known; hence its fame is familiar even to the most casual observer of matters theatrical. This fame places it foremost in in-pany ever brought into it. It is a feature event, meriting widest recognition and appreciation. It will indeed be worth while to see "Paid in Full," the masterpiece of the American stage, acted by this exceptional New York cast. Those who have seen this play will find it doubly enjoyable with this company. Those who have not seen it have an opportunity upon which they are to be congratulated. It is the treat of the year—yes, of many years.

Joseph Callahan and his "Merry Troubadours" will be the attraction at the Myers theatre tonight and tomorrow night. This splendid organization is headed by Joseph Callahan in his original production of "Great Mon, Past and Present." Mr. Callahan appears as an actor in his dress-

The absorbing of one character and the complete costume and make-up of another is accomplished in about forty seconds. At the top of a bell a punch curtain falls and reveals Mr. Callahan in a flood of calcium light with the face, dress and voice of some of the world's greatest celebrities. During this engagement at the Myers theatre some of the characters presented will be Abraham Lincoln, Emperor William II. of Germany, General R. E. Lee, General U. S. Grant, Robert Emmet, Shakespeare's Shylock, Robert Burns, Edwin Booth as Hamlet, Mark Twain, and last but not least, that lovable prelate, Pope Leo XIII.

MINNESOTA INDIANS HAVE FINAL SPREE

600 Braves and Squaws Spend Their Annuities for Whisky—Many Are Jailed.

Walker, Minn., Oct. 28.—After receiving their annuities at Onigum, the Leech Lake agency, 600 Indian bucks and squaws boarded the Minnesota & International passenger train to Park Rapids. Here they spent their total receipts in one of the wildest drunken orgies in the history of the reservation.

In order to wrest a returning train from their uproarious domination 12 deputies and the sheriff drove them from the cars here, placed as many in the lockup as it would hold and shipped the rest in towed barges to deserted taverns and crying papposes about the shores of the lake.

Notwithstanding the efforts of the deputies to take from the Indians all the whisky they had purchased, a band of 50 followed the passenger train on a freight with a carload of liquor, which, when warned by companions, they slipped through Walker without effective interference and unloaded on a switchback down the line. This liquor is now in numerous taverns throughout the reservation.

It was the last day under which squaws were permitted to operate and sell liquor to Indians. Orders were so issued by Chief Special Agent William E. Johnson 20 days ago. Open saloons here refused to sell whisky to Indians who then left town in large numbers after receiving their annuities.

Fifteen hundred Indians received $6.30 apiece at Onigum from Indian Agent Prater. This was distributed among men, women and children.

AIMS TO CONSERVE OUR WEALTH

Conservation Association is Launched at New York with Taft's Support.

New York, Oct. 28.—A nation-wide movement for conservation of natural resources which has the indorsement of President Taft was launched here.

The National Conservation association will carry on a vigorous campaign under the leadership of Dr. Charles W. Elliot, president emeritus of Harvard university, and several assistants.

This association is to be a militant organization with the general object of obtaining practical application through legislative and administrative measures by the states and federal government of the conservation principles adopted by the governors in conference with former President Roosevelt. President Taft voiced his interest by being enrolled as the first member.

General offices have been opened in the Fifth avenue building. The membership, which is open to every American citizen, is expected to reach into the hundreds of thousands. The vice-president of the association is Walter L. Fisher of Chicago and the secretary is Thomas H. Shipp of Indianapolis, Ind., and the chairman of the executive committee is John P. Bass of Chicago, and the executive director is Royal Meloy, also of Chicago.

OLD OIL WELLS REVIVED BY THE USE OF STEAM.

Apply steam to old wells.

Jamestown, N. Y.—One of the most important industries of the nation is the production of oil. That producers must constantly sink new wells in order to keep up the production is considered a serious condition, as the oil territory will, in the natural course of events, become entirely covered and should the existing wells continue to cease flowing after short activities, the time will come when the production will cease altogether.

An invention for prolonging the life of oil wells is of vital importance not only to the oil producers but to the public which uses vast quantities of this product—not to mention the Standard Oil Company.

An invention of this nature has recently been provided by Dr. F. A. Monroe, of Jamestown, N. Y., a man educated not as an engineer, but as a physician but one who has made evidently a careful study of metallurgy and mechanics. The cause for the cessation of activities of the pores of oil wells is the closing of the pores of oil sands by paraffin or asphalt, especially the former. Paraffin is the great evil in the rock, closing the pores and interfering, and after a limited time preventing the passage of the oil. This has ever been the bane of the producers. Numerous have been the methods devised to overcome this enemy to the life of the oil well.

The efficiency of Dr. Monroe's invention has brought him prominently before the oil producing world. The almost universal method up to this time of ridding wells of the paraffin evil has been the primitive blasting process which has ever been both expensive and unsatisfactory.

The new invention is a steamer and consists first of a metal tube twenty feet long and four and a quarter inches in diameter. In the upper part of this tube is inserted a cylinder containing water with a small aperture at the bottom regulating the flow and distributing it evenly over the outside of a disc. In the lower part of the cylinder are inserted cast-iron billets which have been heated red to white heat; the ends of the tubing are then "lugged." At three points in the tubing, near the top, bottom and center are rows of small holes. The water from the cylinder then, dropped on to these heated billets, generates steam which is forced upward and out of these holes, with great force, spraying the paraffin coated walls of the shot-cavity with hot dry steam.

The method of operating is first to draw the tubing and rods from the well then the well is bled dry; next the pocket below the shot-cavity is about half-filled with boiling water. This water is poured in from the top and does not come in contact with the oil-bearing sand.

The steamer already charged is lowered into the well and allowed to remain steaming the upper portion of the shot-cavity. Inasmuch as the steamer will continue to generate hot superheated steam for from 25 to 45 minutes, the whole cavity is filled with steam and the paraffin wax well started to running before the steamer is cool.

Before withdrawing the steamer is lowered so that the lower half, containing the heated billets, rests in the water which was put into the shot-cavity, bringing that to a boiling point. The steamer is then withdrawn.

and another already charged and waiting is immediately lowered into the well.

This operation is continued for from five to eight hours, until all the paraffin that has adhered to the walls of the shot-cavity has been melted and run down and is held in suspension by the hot water in the pocket below the shot-cavity. This hot water and melted paraffin is then bled out before being allowed to cool and the paraffin is not, removing absolutely every bit of paraffin that adhered to the well. The tubing and rods are cleaned and replaced and any repairs to pump or apparatus are made, leaving the well in perfect condition and making certain secured.

There are about 200,000 producing oil wells in this country, the great majority of which are suffering to a greater or less degree from the paraffin wax evil. This invention provides the means for increasing the flowage of all of these wells and of rejuvenating those in which pumping has been suspended. It should mean the saving of millions of dollars to the oil producers and likewise saving millions to the users of oil in keeping down the price thereof.

WIRE BOND FOR BRICKS

Becomes Fast in Mortar and Adds Much to Strength of Walls.

A new and improved brick bond has been invented by a Philadelphia man. At first glance it looks like a solid sort of building, but anybody who understands building can appreciate its merits in that glance. It is made of galvanized iron wire and is strong enough to withstand great strain. Laid across the top of a row of bricks it becomes fast in the mortar, which works its way around the crimping and makes it practically impossible for the bricks to spread. The hook feature of the bond is at once a preventive of the separation of the inner and outer walls and a time saver for the inspector, enabling the latter to tell at a glance how many hands have been used. The bond is laid so that the hook hangs over the side of the brick, and it also enables the bricklayer to tell how many bricks have been used. This bond also obviates the necessity of clipping bricks when building a "header" row, saving work, labor and annoyance.

CHAPTER VIII.

ALTHOUGH Captain Williams had assured Mrs. Brooks that he would bear them no grudge because of her husband's attack upon him, he did not return again to the little flat, and it was some time before Mrs. Harris and Beth favored them with another visit. But this did not trouble the young couple a bit. Commencing on that night when he had insisted on taking his wife to a place of amusement, Joe's conduct toward her had undergone a complete change. Instead of returning home depressed and irritable he was nearly always in good humor and affectionately considerate. They needed no other company than their own and occasionally Jimmy's.

The happy transformation had been brought about by an unexpected bit of luck. As Joe explained it to his delighted wife, he had been very friendly with the manager of a concern which transacted business with the steamship company, and this gentleman had offered him $10 a week to render, when required, certain little services in the matter of collections, which he was able to do without interfering to any extent with the duties the Latin-American line paid him for performing. It was just the amount of the advance he had asked for and which Captain Williams had refused to give him, and it represented the difference between very painful sparing and comparative ease. And that was not all. One thing leading to another, Joe was enabled now and then to earn an extra $5 or $10 from other sources.

With this prosperous turn in his affairs the self-confidence and assurance that long had abandoned him under his reported disappointments and failures now came back to him. He began to be interested in the price of real estate and automobiles.

His wife, with the sobering recollection of the guilt between talk and achievement, of desire and possession, was careful to build no hopes upon these fabrics of vision, though she was too wise to seek to restrain the ardor of his imagination. She did, however, take with gratitude what the gods had given, favoring the bestowal of possibly greater. The substantial addition to their means enabled her to hire a woman who (even she felt like it) did the dirtier work of the household, that had been such a tax upon her. Little toilet necessities and accessories made their appearance. Brooks, when he had made an extra good week, insisted on lavishing his additional earnings upon her. New and suitable clothing restored her self-respect and the pleasure that every woman feels or should feel in making herself attractive.

Mrs. Harris and Beth could not fail to notice the change, and it had a gradual but marked effect on their attitude toward Brooks, which became more civil and cordial. Emma declined to gratify that Joe was "retelling on." To all leading questions he returned evasive answers, one reason being that deep resentment rankled in the heart of her husband for the lofty disdain under which he had suffered so long and that he objected emphatically to the revelation of their private affairs to anybody, even to Jimmy Brooks, as he had pointed out, it would not be to their interest for the intelligence that he was doing outside work to reach Captain Williams' ears. He would either be dropped or so much would be given to him to do that there would be no time in which to devote his energies so lucratively elsewhere. The force of this could not fail to be seen by Mrs. Brooks, and, thus placed on her guard, she was all discretion.

Soon Joe was doing so well that they decided to take a larger flat and engage a regular servant.

Another piece of luck came to Joe, so unlooked for, in form so amazingly substantial, that it almost made Emma crazy with joy.

Looking out of the window about supper time and wishing that her husband would come, she noticed a cab driven up to the door and, to her surprise, saw her husband leap out of it. He bounded up the stairs two at a time, breathless with excitement, and emptied from his pockets on to the table a heap of notes and gold. Then he seized hold of her and forcibly walked her around the room.

Finally he sat her, panting and bewildered, in a chair and pushed the money toward her.

"There, little woman," he gasped, "that's for you, all of it—every penny of it. You know that three days ago when Jimmy started on that trip of inspection to our South American ports of call Williams went too and that they are to be gone for two or three months. Well, I'll give you a million chances and you'll never come near guessing the decent thing Williams did. He recognized my services to the company at last by promoting me to head a new exchange and collection department with a salary of $300 a month, the raise to date from six months back. Here's the six months' back pay—$1,800."

It was Emma's turn to get up and wait while she had recovered somewhat from her astonishment. They decided at her suggestion to celebrate their good fortune forthwith by a banquet royal for two at one of the fashionable restaurants. Happily she donned her prettiest costume, and they set out. Never had she been so vivacious, never more charming.

"Now," she said joyfully, "you'll be able to get a dress suit, and I can have a piano."

The lack of a piano always had been cause for regret.

Then she began to consider how they might live more comfortably than they had been doing. Joe proposed that they should avoid the housekeeping and servant problems altogether by living in an apartment hotel. He thought this would be within their means if they furnished the apartment themselves. He did not think it would cost more than living in a flat. Emma fell in with this view with eager enthusiasm.

Investigation proved the plan a little more expensive than they had bargained for, but they had what appeared to Emma to be a fabulous sum of money on hand, and they found an apartment which so pleased them in a hotel where the arrangements appeared to be satisfactory that they decided to take it.

Then Emma, with a light heart and a full purse—which, however, did not remain long in its bulging condition—experienced for the first time the unalloyed content of shopping to her heart's content, and the tangible result of her peregrinations was a charmingly furnished nest, conspicuous among the objects in which was her coveted piano.

CHAPTER IX.

AT the end of the first month passed in their new home Mrs. Brooks' joy in the sudden and great change in her husband's fortunes in the steamship company remained undiminished. Her mother, Mrs. Harris, had come to look upon him with great respect and to be rather proud of her son-in-law, who had upheld her dire prognostications and won her his firmly rooted ideas and convictions by rising in the world.

As to Brooks himself, the exuberance of his optimism had worn off considerably. He did not share to any extent in the light heartedness of his wife, who diffused happiness and ripples in to songs that had smoothed out the creases of care on his father's brow when she sang to him in the days of her girlhood. He had become more and more thoughtful, with lapses at unexpected times into absent-mindedness. Moreover, of late, symptoms of his former ill humor and nervous irritability had reappeared.

"Goodness, Emma, one would hardly know you!" exclaimed Beth to her one evening after dinner, to which Mrs. Brooks had invited her mother and sister. "Your dress is a dream, and at table you were positively radiant."

She had followed Emma into her bedroom and was gazing in admiration at her sparkling eyes and her cheeks rosy with health.

"I am happy," admitted Emma, putting her arm around her affectionately.

"Do you know, dearie, I'm just gazing to know who and what you are?"

Highly amused at the girl's patronizing manner and not at all inclined to take her seriously, Emma looked at her with assumed gravity.

"Now's that, little sister?" she inquired.

"Please don't call me 'little sister,'" objected Beth. "You're always making fun of me."

"Dear Beth, it is you who are always making fun of yourself," Emma told her.

"Indeed I'm not!"

"Why not laugh and play and just be a girl—a real 'tomboy'?" After all, that's the thing. You are only eighteen, while I have reached years of discretion, I'm twenty-five, you know, and awfully staid and wise in consequence."

"You weren't a tomboy?"

"Oh, yes, I was until I fell in love. You were a wee bit of a little maid then, and after I fell in love I became a silly little goose like all girls in love, and then—"

"You married Joe?"

"Yes," said Emma seriously, "and that's why I want you to have such a good time now, while you can. Of course I hope you'll not have the hard pull that Joe and I have had—one never when you are married—but one never can tell."

SLAYS HUSBAND IN STRUGGLE.

Quelling Over Possession of Gun Wife Kills Life-Partner.

Pana, Ill., Oct. 28.—Frank Stanley was shot and instantly killed by his wife after the two had struggled desperately for the possession of the shotgun with which the woman slew her husband.

Mrs. Stanley was the first to tell of the shooting, when she gave herself up to officers. She begged to be rushed to jail at once, as she feared violence at the hands of her husband's relatives. She pleads self-defense as the cause of the shooting and declares that Stanley had been drinking and handled her roughly in a quarrel over domestic matters.

Under bedclothes, where his cradle had been overturned in the fight for the shotgun, was found the child of the Stanley couple. The baby, less than a year old, was sleeping peacefully within a few feet of its dead father.

In view of her story and the knowledge of friends of the domestic troubles of the Stanleys, it is probable that Mrs. Stanley will be released on bonds.

Adopts Novel Campaign.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 28.—Allan R. Walsh, Democratic candidate for the assembly, has adopted the most novel means of campaigning. Relying on his ability as an actor, which has made him famous in amateur circles, he has secured a professional engagement in a vaudeville house here and will appear each afternoon and evening until election time in the role of "Rip Van Winkle."

He hopes by this means to convince the voters that he would make a good lawmaker.

Shortage Reaches $457,000.

Washington, Oct. 28.—"Every conceivable form of irregularity has been turned up" is the way treasury officials describe the developments in the investigation of the Mineral Point (Wis.) First National bank, which closed its doors October 12. The latest information is that the loss from forged paper and embezzlement reaches $457,000. There were many deposits made that were never entered on the books of the bank, it is alleged.

JACOB HIRGEL, Covington, Ind.

Many persons who suffer constantly from chronic diseases, find great relief by the use of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, and after several years' use, say that they have in no way injured them or created a habit.

The first package will benefit. If not, your druggist will return your money.

BIG VENIRE FRAUDS IN COOK COUNTY

GRAND JURY'S REPORT FLAYS COMMISSIONER'S OFFICE FOR VIOLATING LAWS.

IRREGULARITY EVERYWHERE

Declare Officials Lax in Preventing Tampering with Panel Lists and Other Matters—Boasts State's Attorney Wayman for Governor.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—What charges of fraud and wholesale violations of the law were made against the Cook county jury commissioners' office by the October grand jury, which adjourned following the presentation of an official report to Judge Tenthill.

Without mining words or glossing over the accusations in any way, the influential body declared the jury-drawing system "rotten and corrupt" from top to bottom. Conditions have been such the report alleged, that any commissioner or any employee in the office could pick out a grand or petit jury whenever he so desired.

Surprising Feature.

A surprising feature of the report was the resolution made by the grand jurors personally, literally launching state's Attorney Wayman's candidacy for governor. The grand jury members wished him success to the degree that he would be entitled "to the highest reward of the people of the state of Illinois," which was taken to mean the governorship.

As for details of the venire system, the grand jury reported bogus cards, false lists and irregular proceedings in evidence. Capt. Roswell H. Mason, the chief clerk, is charged with having failed to place cards in the jury box after they had been selected, keeping them on his desk for long periods of time.

That one commissioner—name not mentioned—gave certain names to one of the employees of the office to be selected for jury service is charged in the report.

POLICE SHOOT DOWN TWO MEN.

Caught in Act of Robbing Residence—Thieves Put Up Fight.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 28.—Two men caught attempting to rob a house at 507 South Harris avenue were shot by Bicycle Policemen Mullen and Stewart in a desperate running battle. One of the men, who is probably fatally wounded, is named Mike Foley, according to the log and the arm, gave his own name to the police as Samuel Cardwell of Chicago. He met Foley, he said, at Cincinnati a few days ago.

The policemen were called by neighbors, who found Cardwell and Foley ransacking a house. When the policemen arrived the two robbers were in the street and at once opened fire. Mullen stopped his bicycle so quickly that he was thrown to the ground. Lying there he returned the fire, and Stewart also began shooting.

The robbers, emptying their revolvers, ran, the policemen after them. Mullen followed Foley into a shed. The man had been shot through the lungs and was writhing in agony, but he had reloading his revolver, and he shot full at Mullen as he entered the door. Mullen struck the man on the head with his lance and he fell back senseless.

Patrolman Stewart chased Cardwell into a stable and placed him under arrest.

The detectives began an investigation on the basis of a possibility that Foley and Cardwell were members of the gang that wrecked a number of buildings in this city last Sunday night with dynamite.

VESSELS RACE TO BEAT TAX.

Endeavor to Reach New York Before Reciprocity Expires.

New York, Oct. 28.—Three French steamships, heavily laden with vines and other luxuriant products of France, are racing for this port in the hope of landing before the expiration of the reciprocity trade arrangements with France, Switzerland and Bulgaria, at midnight Sunday.

The vessels on the way are the cargo mail steamer Touraine, the cargo steamer Louisiana and the passenger and cargo steamer Chicago.

In anticipation of the termination of the reciprocity commercial agreements with the three countries named shippers have been rushing wines, sparkling and still, cordials, bitters, claret, burgundies, cherry juices, vermouth and spirits in tremendous quantities to New York for a month.

Under the reciprocity agreements the duty on champagnes and brandies is 36 cents a case of 12 quarts, but after midnight of next Sunday the duty will be $9.50.

Is Having Glorious Snooze.

Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 28.—George Earl, a Kenosha man is having one glorious old snooze. He went to sleep last Friday night and is still sleeping, seemingly not disturbed by anything.

The man has been awakened several times since he has dropped off, but he falls asleep again just as soon as he is left to himself. His case is proving a puzzle to the doctors.

Dahlen to Manage Brooklyn Club.

New York, Oct. 28.—William Dahlen, at one time the greatest shortstop in the country, has been appointed manager of the Brooklyn National league baseball club for the season of 1910.

Japanese Public Ovens.

Most of the cooking of the Japanese cities is done in public ovens, which are maintained at convenient places at moderate cost to patrons.

WIFE MAKES SERIOUS CHARGES.

Husband is Alleged to Have Burned Her with Cigars.

Philadelphia, Oct. 28.—Extraordinary assertions of inhuman treatment as the hands of her husband, Frederic Collins, Jr., a wealthy club man, who lives at Mount Airy, are made by Mrs. Madeline Collins in her suit for divorce.

According to Mrs. Collins, her husband is an admirer of Harry K. Thaw, and she says he "went Thaw K. Thaw" in his treatment of her. Not only does she charge him with beating her, but she declares he burned her with cigars in fits of anger; one time, after pouring her head under a spittoon and turned on the scalding hot water.

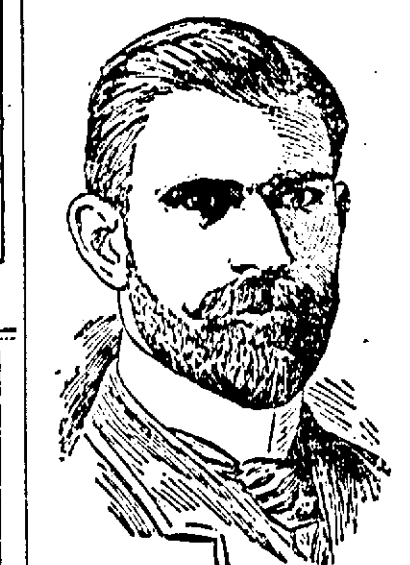

As a result of this treatment, Mrs. Collins declares, her health has been ruined and she is now suffering from tuberculosis. She left Mr. Collins last summer and is now living with friends. Collins is still at his home with his children by former wives. He had two, according to Mrs. Collins.

Strike of Shopmen Predicted.

Decatur, Ill., Oct. 28.—Negotiations for a wage settlement between the Washburn railroad and its shopmen reached the ultimatum stage when Manager Miller's offer of 2½ cents an hour increase with one cent an hour increase for helpers and allied shop trades was refused. OWES HER LIFE TO

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Vienna, W. Va.—"I feel that I owe the last ten years of my life to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Eleven years ago I was a walking shadow. I had been under the doctor's care but got no benefit. My husband tried to get me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it worked like a charm. It relieved all my pains and misery. I advise all suffering women to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. EMILIA WIEATON, Vienna, W. Va.

Priceless Manuscript for Museum.
A Berlin museum has recently acquired a very valuable manuscript which originated in the second century B. C. It seems to be of the nature of a biographical dictionary, for it contains a list of the leading men of the time, in art, statesmanship and warfare with much other general information of a similar nature. The paper was found in the wrappings of a mummy.

tions, and they requested him, as a special favor, to fall off the earth. They handed him a great deal of excellent advice. They urged him to brace up and be a man, and to look no more upon the wine when it is red; they were willing even anxious, to help him along with exhortations and precepts, but they drew the line at going down into their hearts. And that is always the way with the friends a young man makes when pauperizing the town. And this particular young man had to walk out of town on the ties.
